

About Greenbaby Gifts:

Greenbaby Gifts was founded by Cynthia McGregor in April of 2007 in response to much personal research done into the health risks and environmental damage resulting from the many chemicals used to produce typical, mainstream baby care products. The product line was developed as a means for exposing new and expecting parents to the wide range of alternative baby care products available in today's marketplace, as well as to provide a one-stop shop for consumers of eco-friendly products in need of a gift for expecting mothers and their children.

Greenbaby Gifts offers gift sets of all natural and organic nursery necessities for infants, toddlers, and moms. Gift sets come packaged in beautiful, handmade gift bags and keepsake boxes, comprised of sustainable materials. The driving principles of Greenbaby's products and business practices are convenience, style, and sustainability. Only the highest quality, most unique, and effective products have been chosen for inclusion in Greenbaby Gift sets, and the company works only with manufacturers adhering to strict standards in terms of certifications for organic materials, fair trade, and fair labor practices.
