

greenbaby gifts Launches Eco-Friendly, Safe and Sustainable Bundles of Joy for Expectant Mothers and Newborns

LAGUNA NIGUEL, California, Aug. 20 -- Cynthia McGregor, founder of greenbaby gifts, proudly announces a new collection of loving and affordable gift sets for expecting mothers, newborns and toddlers. Not only are these cozy bundles -- including a luxury assortment of baby clothes, blankets, infant care products, pampering gifts for Mommy and more -- free of toxic or irritating chemicals, but they are also manufactured using the latest in green and sustainable technologies.

The wisdom of greenbaby gifts was born of a mother's love. McGregor explains, "After the birth of my first son, I began looking for healthy alternatives to typical household cleaners. My research revealed the frightening array of toxic ingredients that occur in today's conventional products, including those designed for infants and toddlers. I also felt shocked at the harmful amounts of chemicals and pesticides used in the production of clothing and linens, as well as the surprising number of synthetic preservatives and harsh chemicals in bath and body products." McGregor realized that the perfect gift for any new mother should include healthy alternatives to nursery necessities. But she realized a painful reality -- she couldn't find one place that brought all these products together with a price tag she could afford. Within weeks, she decided to start greenbaby gifts.

Now, the online store offers such beautiful and healthy collections, conveniently packaged in handmade, paper gift bags and keepsake boxes. By purchasing directly from greenbaby gifts, friends of expectant mothers now can afford to make sure that these "little bundles of joy" will be wrapped in the comforting touch of natural products that ensure a healthy future for these healthy babies.

About greenbaby gifts

Based in LAGUNA NIGUEL, California, greenbaby gifts offers a first for mothers, infants and toddlers; luxury gift sets of baby and Mommy products that embody an environmentally conscious spirit. Each and every item has been thoroughly researched and hand-selected as a safe and effective alternative to conventional products. All clothing, linens, toys, and bath and body care items are designed to be gentle enough for those sensitive to specific chemicals or fragrances, especially queasy mummies and newborns.

Founder Cynthia McGregor has personally and painstakingly set up every step in the production process to reflect the company's dedication to eco-friendly principles. greenbaby gifts works only with manufacturers that adhere to fair trade and fair labor standards, and the majority of its vendors are members of the Organic Trade Association. From company checks to shipping boxes, to all print and packaging materials, greenbaby gifts uses only recycled and biodegradable products.

By choosing to give a greenbaby gift, you will choose to give so much more than a basket of cute baby goodies. You will give a gift of protection and health, a gift of knowledge and awareness ... and most of all, the gift of hope for a healthy future. To order online, visit <http://www.greenbaby-gifts.com>.
